WHY RECOVERY FEELS SO CONFUSING

Most people with foot and heel pain aren't lacking effort.
They're trying to follow advice that wasn't designed for their specific situation.

TWO PEOPLE. SAME DIAGNOSIS. COMPLETELY DIFFERENT STRATEGIES.

One person may need to do more.

Another may need to slow down.

One person may be pushing through pain.

Another may be avoiding activity completely.

That's why generic advice often falls short.

LET'S BE HONEST

- ✓ Most people don't have unlimited access to a therapist.
- ✓ Most people are trying to fit recovery around work, family, and everyday life.
- ✓ Most people are tired of conflicting advice.
- ✓ Most people just want to know what to do next.

STILL NOT SURE WHAT TO DO NEXT?

Most people aren't missing effort.
They're missing clarity.

The wrong advice for your situation can keep you stuck for weeks, months, or even years.

YOU HAVE TWO OPTIONS.

Keep guessing.

Find out what's actually going on.
